

#07 ALWAYS UP TO DATE

How do you get your news about TeachCenter (TC) and TeachCenter Exam?

We at the OU Educational Technology are constantly developing the TC and TC Exam and try to accommodate the wishes of teachers and students as much as possible. In addition, updates to new Moodle versions mean that new features are added all the time.

In this article, you will find out where, how and when you will be informed about updates in TC and TC Exam, so that you are always up to date with the latest TC features and can backup all your courses in time or prepare them for the coming semester.

TC announcements on maintenance windows, events and updates

Maintenance windows and news are regularly communicated via announcements in the TC. Maintenance windows are also announced as banners at the top of the page a few days in advance. You will always see the latest announcements displayed on the left below the main menu.

Information on the upcoming semester and e-mail regarding semester change

About a month before the start of the new semester (or about two weeks before the semester change in the TC), you will receive an e-mail informing you of the semester change in the TC.

This also includes a link to the FAQ course in the TC, where you will find the most important information on the semester change in the TC as well as any other changes or new features.

In addition, before the start of the new semester, you will receive an e-mail from the Vice Rectorate for Academic Affairs announcing other important information such as dates for further training courses and events.

The date of the semester change of the TC (= the day from which students of the current semester get access to the courses and students of the oldest semester lose access) is visible on the dashboard from now on.

Save the documents in good time before the course reset or semester change. If individual students still need access to the documents, please contact the support team (tc@tugraz.at).

FAQs for teachers and students

Answers to frequently asked questions (FAQs) and basic information about TC and TC Exam can be found on the FAQ pages.

New: From now on, information on the semester change will be communicated via the TC FAQ course.
